LYAL CRONIN.

AZY, CRANKY, CUL-LIONLY CUR!

The Bolting, Blatant, Bacchanalian Bummer.

one of the White Oaks of February 3, the subject of this sketch has a column or two of his crazy wallings, directed in the dirtiest manner to M. S. Taliaferro.

No notice should be taken of this old's clatter; but as he makes some ones that should be refuted, I and give him the best I have begin at the beginning.

Mickey Cronin? You pro-ever saw this monstrosity or ould not ask the question. He a bigoted, stuck-up fool, having strut of a turkey gobbler, and I believe came into the world much in the same manner—hatched from an egg; such a what-is-it certainly never came into the world in the usual way. He must be queer looking, you ask? He is, and acts in the same manner. He is not dangerous, ough, but is allowed to run through streets without a muzzle. So for an introductory.

court house for the purpose of nominating a ticket. There were only about one dozen present, and they concluded to make a call for a people's party, naming the day for the convention. Cronin was one of the instigators of this call, and his name was signed to the paper then being circulated. We were requested to publish the same, with names attached, but, for want of space, it was impossible to give it room.
Cronin, then, ordered his paper stopped, and I overheard him tell another man to stop his paper also.
Case number two.

He says, "having declined the nomination for clerk in the Democratic convention, he was none the less a Democrat, as evidenced by his subsequent voting for Mr. Poe, Mr. McDonald, Mr. Bryan, and other stalwarts." Yes, but didn't you work teeth and toe-nail against McDonald, leaving no stone unturned to defeat him, and in the most treacherous and cowardly manner? You cannot deny this. And you worked also secretly against John W. Poe. As for voting for Mr. Bryan, you could not have voted, if for either of the tickets, for any one else, for he was on both the Democratic and People's ticket.
Case four.

Then what did the crazy, cranky fool do after the election. In the case of W. C. McDonald he had the election contested, dragging Mr.
McDonald to Silver City and costing him several dollars, on a mere technicality. But you were again fooled. Case five.

Cronin says that Sam R. Corbet is a good Democrat, although he hated to. Yes, Sam is a good Democrat, and besides is a gentleman and counts his friends by the scores.
Something Cronin could never do.
All we regret is, that Sam Corbet should have let such a crank have anything to do with him. And we believe Mr. Corbet thinks the same.
But let us get back to the odious subject.

Mickey whines, "When Taliaferro was a candid Republican, though of no consequence, and as he is in secret now, Mickey Cronin was A FRONTIER CHARACTER.

There came to the city yesterday and slapped his name on one of the hotel registers one of the simon-pure originals of the wild west. It was "Jim" Whitlach, of Nevada.
"Jim" Whitlach is a character. He has been a miner and prospector in the far west for more than twenty years. He is one of the best unscientific miners in the country, and next to Senator Fair and George Hearst, of California, the best judge of a mineral prospect the mining regions have ever known. When Jim Whitlach looks down a shaft or "skins" his eye along a hanging wall, he seems to know intuitively what is behind it. When the great bonanza was discovered in 1874, in Virginia City, Whitlach went into the mine and made the closest guess of all as to the extent and value of of the deposit. And there were many wild guesses made by very scientific persons. A Yale professor said the great bonanza was worth $700,000,000. Phil Diedesheimer, a German mining expert and geologist, went nearly crazy over the find, and wildly asserted that the bonanza was worth $1,500,000,000.
He had bought a little stock and on the strength of the millions he was going to make he went to a big hotel in San Francisco, hired a suite of eight rooms, stocked them with champagne and cigars, and kept open house for a week. Everybody laughed at the crazy German. Even John W. Mackay guessed wide of the find. He put it at $300,000,000, and declared that it would take ten years to exhaust the mine. But Whitlach guessed within a few millions of the truth. He said there was $125,000,000 in the bonanza, and that 120 stamps would use up the ore in five years. The actual yield of the mine was $116,000,000, and the pay ore was exhausted in four years and eight months after the mine was opened.

In 1864 Whitlach himself made a discovery in White Pine, Nevada, which showed some of the richest silver ore ever found in this country.
His mine contained ore worth $14-000 a ton. He sold it for $175,000.
